

Dr. Aleksandra Jović Vraneš, MD, PhD

Dr Aleksandra Jović-Vraneš is Associated Professor of Social medicine at Faculty of Medicine University of Belgrade. She has been employed at the Institute of Social Medicine, Faculty of Medicine University of Belgrade since 1999, and promoted in assistant professor 2005.

She publicly defended master study in 2003. and PhD thesis in 2010. at the Faculty of Medicine University of Belgrade. She passed the membership exam in Social Medicine at 2004. She was promoted to Associate Professor 2011.

Dr Aleksandra Jović Vraneš participates in undergraduate and postgraduate studies, Master of Public health and Master of Health Management (Faculty of Medicine University of Belgrade), PhD studies in public health and continuing medical education. She also participates in studies in English language at the Faculty of Medicine University of Belgrade. Dr Aleksandra Jović Vraneš has attended numerous courses, seminars, workshops, conferences and summer schools in public health, health promotion and health education.

She has participated and participates in many national and international projects. She published a number of papers in international peer reviewed journals.