

Dr. Giuseppe La Torre

Born 1964 in Naples.

Associate Professor of Public Health at Sapienza University of Rome (since 2008), Department of Public Health and Infectious Diseases. He was investigator in many European projects (Strengthening Public Health Research in Europe, Public Health Innovation and Research in Europe, Health Risk of Environmental Pollution Levels in Urban Systems).

President of the EUPHA section of Public Health Epidemiology, and vice-president of EUPHA Sections' President Council. Author of more than 300 papers published on scientific journals and of academic books on Epidemiology, Public Health and Health Technology Assessment.

Editorial member of the journals Public Health, Journal of Public Health (Springer), Asian Pacific Journal of Tropical Biomedicine. Degree in Medicine (1990), Specialization in Hygiene and Preventive Medicine at University of Naples (1994), Master in Epidemiology (1999) and Doctor of Science in Epidemiology at Erasmus University Rotterdam (2006).